Cyberbullying: What You Need to Know

The ever-increasing presence of technology in teens' lives presents new opportunities, but not without risks. In particular, cyberbullying, the intentional use of electronic means to harm someone, is rising at an alarming rate. This workshop explores the latest research on the impact of screens and the various ways cyberbullying occurs. Participants will learn strategies to best support our youth around this issue.

Zoom details will be sent with the registration confirmation.

January 24, 2024 1:00 PM

Roblox, Minecraft, Fortnite, etc.: Gaming or Gambling?

Gaming can be fun and engaging, providing social interaction and entertainment. However, there are many features of games that resemble gambling. Parents and guardians will learn the various types of games, the personality types associated with playing them, and the embedded components that resemble gambling and practical strategies to keep gaming safe.
